A Modern Day Warrior

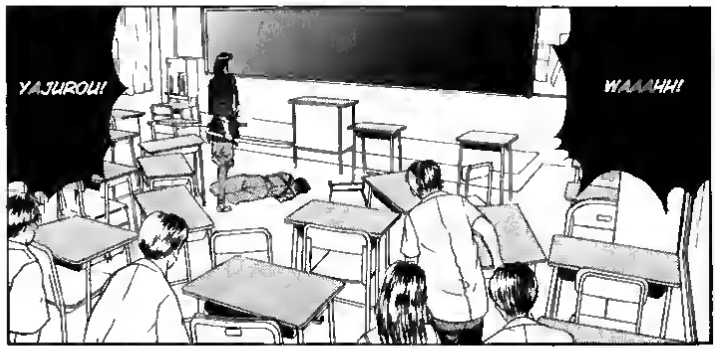

THIS IS A WORK OF FICTION. ALL CHARACTERS AND EVENTS PORTRAYED IN THIS MANGA ARE FICTITIOUS. ANY RESEMBLANCE TO REAL PEOPLE OR EVENTS IS PURELY COINCIDENTAL.

PITY...
THERE ARE STILL WARRIORS LIKE THIS TODAY..
HEY! YOU! WHAT...
IS IT THIS ROOM?
THOUGH WEAK, THERE IS A TRACE OF THE GODDESS
DIS_P-PEARED?

Explanation of Terms

Warrior Goddess Koharu

A battle goddess known for eradicating evil. Since her birth she has lived in First Goddess Palace without any contact with the opposite gender - the "Boundary of 80 women' - to realize her destiny of becoming a goddess

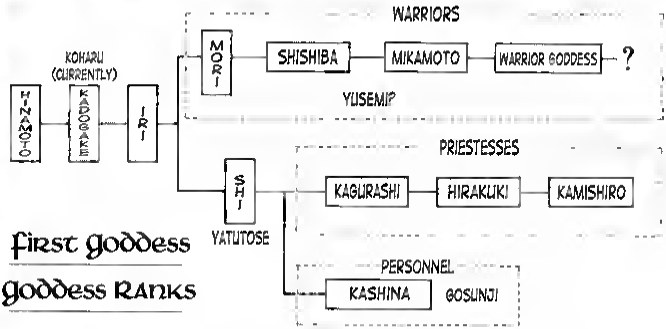

[Warrior Goddess]

Technically Koharu is not yet a Warrior Goddess just as a caterpillar is not yet a butterfly. A more appropriate title would perhaps be Kadogake while when she first escaped from First Goddess Palace her rank was that of Hinamoto Her title changes according to her ability as a goddess although the how this ability is measured is unclear. The title Warrior Goddess is actually the title given to the military leader of First Goddess

[Spirit]

Spirit is the source of energy for Koharu and other battle goddesses. Spirit increases or decreases according to Koharu's movements, and its characteristics can be divided in different ways. Of course when she exhausts her spirit Koharu will die. When Koharu performs a "Hurricane Strike" technique "Waste Spirit' is consumed. In later volumes when she uses a "Great Recovery" technique, "Fortune Spirit" is used. If used without care Spirit may change her into an evil goddess, perhaps the case with Yusemi

First Goddess

Goddess Ranks

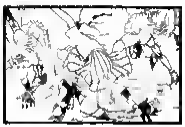

As illustrated above, while those in service at First Goddess Palace may be seen as goddesses, only those who have the qualities of a Warrior Goddess are truly goddesses, therefore the goddess rank does not serve as an official position or class

[Hurricane Strike]

One of Koharu's goddess skills, she strikes at the air using Spirit in order to create various phenomena

First Form, Jump

A midair leaping style. The midair leap must be executed without delay. Due to the technique's intensity and the subsequent physical strain on the body, the maximum duration is only 5 seconds

Second Form, Slice

Using Spirit in midair as an offensive weapon. Compared to Pierce, this attack uses less energy and thus can be performed continuously. It is effective even against stronger enemies, but Mud Men are impervious to this attack

Third Form, Pierce

Currently her strongest attack. Pierce uses Spirit compressed into a high energy arrow to attack the opponent. The maximum range is 25m. Because of blood pooling in the lower extremities when executing this attack, Koharu experiences temporary blindness after using Pierce, and thus this technique is forbidden
